

The Accendia website I want you to build TODAY

I would keep the first version to 6 pages:

- 1. Home
- 2. What We Do
- 3. Young People & Future Talent
- 4. Workforce, Quality & Capability
- 5. About Accendia
- 6. Contact

You're building one that makes those CEOs think:

"There may be something here that could be useful to us."

1. THE HOMEPAGE

This is the most important page.

I want the website developer to understand that Accendia is not a recruitment agency and not an education consultancy.

The positioning needs to be broader.

Hero

I would use:

Building stronger organisations. Creating pathways to opportunity.

Then:

Accendia Consulting works with organisations to develop people, programmes and partnerships that connect talent, capability and opportunity.

And three immediate buttons:

Work with us
Explore our services
Let's talk

That gives CEOs of organisations and public authorities somewhere obvious to go.

2. WHAT ACCENDIA DOES

This is where we explain our actual commercial offer.

I would structure it around four service pillars, not seven or eight.

PEOPLE & FUTURE TALENT

Helping organisations create meaningful opportunities for young people and develop future talent.

Possible work:

- employer engagement
- early talent programmes
- work experience
- careers insight
- T Levels and apprenticeships
- education/employer partnerships
- progression pathways
- youth engagement initiatives

WORKFORCE & ORGANISATIONAL CAPABILITY

Helping organisations develop the capability they need to deliver their priorities.

Possible work:

- workforce development
- programme design
- organisational capability
- leadership and development
- stakeholder engagement
- strategic partnerships
- programme mobilisation and delivery

QUALITY & ACCREDITATION

This is important because accreditation and QA are part of our offer.

Possible work:

- quality assurance
- quality frameworks
- accreditation preparation
- evidence and compliance readiness
- programme review
- standards development
- continuous improvement

Do not claim to be an accrediting body because we are not one.

We can say we provide accreditation support/readiness, because it accurately describes what we offer.

PROGRAMMES & PARTNERSHIPS

This is where our experience becomes commercially useful.

- programme design
- programme management
- partnership development
- implementation
- stakeholder coordination
- evaluation
- improvement

Accendia's Methodology

How Accendia works:

DISCOVER

Understand the organisation, its people, ambitions, challenges and opportunities.

DESIGN

Turn insight into a practical solution, programme, pathway, framework or partnership.

DELIVER

Move from strategy to implementation, coordinating people, partners and activity to make the work happen.

DEVELOP

Review what is working, strengthen the approach, capture learning and build longer-term capability.

These four stages should be presented as Accendia's core consulting methodology rather than as decorative marketing language. The visual treatment should be clean, restrained and executive.

The methodology should communicate that Accendia can work from diagnosis and strategic thinking through to practical implementation and continuous improvement.

It should also be flexible enough to apply across Accendia's different areas of work, including people and future talent, workforce and organisational capability, programmes and partnerships, and quality and accreditation support.

Brand Positioning

What Accendia is about:

People | Capability | Opportunity

How Accendia works:

Discover | Design | Deliver | Develop

Please avoid overly playful, corporate-gimmicky or heavily stylised treatment. The overall presentation should feel credible, intelligent, modern, professional and executive-level.

3. Young People & Future Talent

This should be one of the strongest pages on the site.

Opening copy

The future workforce is already growing up around us.

Accendia works with organisations to create meaningful opportunities for young people to see, experience and understand the world of work and to help employers think differently about how they engage future talent.

Then explain that this can include:

Career insight experiences

Giving young people exposure to real organisations, roles, sectors and working environments.

Employer engagement

Helping organisations translate their expertise, people and workplace into meaningful experiences for young people.

Work experience & early talent

Designing structured opportunities that go beyond simply "having a student in the workplace".

Skills & progression

Connecting experiences to the skills, confidence and next steps young people need.

Strategic partnerships

Bringing together employers, schools, colleges, training providers and other stakeholders.

4. ACCENDIA DIFFERENTIATOR

This is where I want you to be very careful.

Don't write:

"We are passionate about..."

everywhere.

Every consultancy website says that.

Instead, tell people how we work.

I suggest a section:

From intention to implementation

Good ideas need more than enthusiasm. They need structure, ownership and delivery.

Accendia works at the point where strategy meets implementation, helping organisations turn an ambition into a practical programme, partnership or pathway that can be delivered, evaluated and improved.

Then four words:

DISCOVER → DESIGN → DELIVER → DEVELOP

That is much more commercially credible.

And it reflects the work we've actually done rather than inventing achievements.

5. ABOUT ACCENDIA

This is where I become important.

Don't make this a giant autobiography.

The website needs to answer:

Who is behind Accendia? Why should I trust her?

Position me around your actual experience across:

- education
- workforce development
- early talent
- programme delivery
- employer engagement
- organisational development
- quality
- partnerships

Note: Pull verified background details and career highlights directly from www.linkedin.com/in/abiolamadubata

Carefully document my credentials and experience.

My SPFT work is particularly useful here, but we must describe it accurately and not imply an ongoing relationship that doesn't exist.

Likewise, my work with We Job Box should be described according to what you have actually delivered.

6. THE CONTACT PAGE

Don't make it:

"Fill in the form and we'll get back to you."

I want senior people to contact me.

Use:

Let's explore what could be possible.

Whether you are looking to develop future talent, strengthen workforce capability, improve quality, develop a programme or build a partnership, we'd welcome a conversation about what you're trying to achieve.

Then:

Book a conversation

Email Accendia

And my LinkedIn. (I am thinking I will need to create a LinkedIn account for Accendia)

THE MOST IMPORTANT WEBSITE RULE

Do NOT put any company name anywhere on the website yet.

Not:

"Working with..."

Not:

"Our clients..."

Not:

"Partners..."

Not logos.

I haven't won the work yet.

Instead, the website should make it easy for them to imagine what working with Accendia could look like.

And I want to have ONE signature proposition

This is where I think Accendia can become bigger than individual consultancy assignments.

I'd position the company around:

People. Capability. Opportunity.

Those three words give me enormous room.

People

Young people, employees, leaders, talent.

Capability

Workforce development, quality, accreditation, organisational capability.

Opportunity

Employer engagement, partnerships, progression, access to experience.

That gives us the architecture of the business.

Website brief to the developer

ACCENDIA CONSULTING LTD

Website Development Brief

Company: Accendia Consulting Ltd

Company number: 17479445

Established: September 2026

Purpose of the website

Create a professional, credible B2B consultancy website for Accendia Consulting Ltd.

The website must position Accendia as a strategic and delivery-focused consultancy working across:

- People and future talent
- Workforce and organisational capability
- Quality assurance and accreditation support
- Programme delivery
- Partnerships and stakeholder engagement

The website must appeal to senior decision-makers, including CEOs, directors, employers, education organisations, public-sector organisations, charities and other organisations seeking practical support with people, capability, quality, opportunity and programme delivery.

Core positioning

Building stronger organisations. Creating pathways to opportunity.

Supporting message:

People | Capability | Opportunity

Accendia works with organisations to develop people, programmes and partnerships that connect talent, capability and opportunity.

Tone

The website should feel:

- Corporate
- Human
- Intelligent
- Strategic
- Practical
- Confident
- Modern
- Warm but not informal

Avoid language that feels:

- overly academic
- generic
- overly "inspirational"
- like a recruitment agency
- like a traditional education consultancy
- like a large corporate pretending to be something it is not

Website structure

Create six core pages:

1. Home
2. What We Do
3. Young People & Future Talent

4. Workforce, Quality & Capability
5. About Accendia
6. Contact

Homepage

Hero headline:

Building stronger organisations. Creating pathways to opportunity.

Supporting copy:

Accendia Consulting works with organisations to develop people, programmes and partnerships that connect talent, capability and opportunity.

Primary calls to action:

Work with us

Explore our services

Let's talk

Service areas

Young People & Future Talent page

This should be a major page.

Headline:

Creating meaningful pathways into the world of work.

Core message:

The future workforce is already growing up around us. Accendia works with organisations to create meaningful opportunities for young people to see, experience and understand the world of work, while helping employers think differently about how they engage future talent.

Include bullet points sections covering:

- School & Further Education (FE) Bridge Building

Connecting schools, colleges, and training providers directly with progressive employers to build long-term talent pathways.

- Safeguarded Work Exposure & Mentorship Design

Structuring career experiences, workplace visits, and mentorship models that are fully safeguarded, risk-managed, and age-appropriate for school-aged young people.

- Career Insight Experiences

Giving young people structured exposure to real organisations, roles, sectors, and working environments.

- Employer Engagement

Helping organisations translate their expertise, culture, and workplace into meaningful experiences for young people.

- Work Experience & Early Talent

Designing structured opportunities that go beyond simply "having a student in the workplace".

- Skills & Progression

Connecting early experiences directly to the confidence, soft skills, and practical next steps young people need.

- Strategic Partnerships

Connecting employers, schools, FE colleges, and community stakeholders to build collaborative, sustainable talent ecosystems.

Note to developer: Emphasise that meaningful experiences should be structured, purposeful and connected to skills and progression rather than simply providing young people with access to a workplace.

Approach

Create a section called:

From intention to implementation

Copy:

"Good ideas need more than enthusiasm. They need structure, ownership and delivery.

Accendia works at the point where strategy meets implementation, helping organisations turn an ambition into a practical programme, partnership or pathway that can be delivered, evaluated and improved."

Use a four-stage visual:

DISCOVER → DESIGN → DELIVER → DEVELOP

About Accendia

Create a concise founder-led section explaining that Accendia brings experience across education, workforce development, early talent, employer engagement, programme delivery, organisational development, quality and partnerships.

The founder biography must use only verified information supplied by Accendia. Do not invent qualifications, clients, outcomes, job titles or achievements.

Important credibility rule

Do not state or imply that Accendia currently works with organisations unless this has been formally agreed and can be accurately described.

Do not claim government, NHS, corporate or education partnerships unless the relationship and wording have been verified.

Contact

Headline:

Let's explore what could be possible.

Supporting copy:

"Whether you are looking to develop future talent, strengthen workforce capability, improve quality, develop a programme or build a partnership, we'd welcome a conversation about what you're trying to achieve."

Include:

- Professional contact form
- Business email
- LinkedIn

- Clear call to action

Summary of the 6 pages:

Page	Purpose	Key content
1. Home	Establish Accendia immediately	Positioning, core proposition, key services, credibility, CTA
2. What We Do	Explain Accendia's offer	Services + Discover/Design/Deliver/Develop methodology
3. Young People & Future Talent	Your distinctive opportunity area	Early talent, work experience, employer engagement, pathways, T Levels/apprenticeships, education partnerships
4. Workforce, Quality & Capability	Establish broader organisational expertise	Workforce development, organisational capability, quality, accreditation support, programme improvement
5. About Accendia	Build trust in you	Founder profile, experience, approach, values, relevant credentials
6. Contact	Convert interest into conversations	Enquiry form, contact details, clear invitation to talk

Design direction

The site should look like a modern professional-services consultancy rather than an education charity or recruitment agency.

Prioritise:

- strong typography
- generous white space
- high-quality photography
- restrained visual identity
- clear navigation
- excellent mobile experience

- fast loading
- strong calls to action
- accessibility
- professional LinkedIn/social sharing images

Avoid excessive animations, stock photographs of people shaking hands, clichéd corporate imagery and unnecessary pages.

NOTE: Please take a look at Attivo's website <https://attivo.co.uk/for-you/> I really like their clean crisp layout, sharp picture colours and font size easy on the eyes but not too big or small.

SEO foundations

Build the site so Accendia can eventually be found for relevant searches around:

- workforce development consultancy
- early talent consultancy
- employer engagement
- work experience programme design
- T Level employer partnerships
- quality assurance consultancy
- accreditation support
- organisational capability
- programme delivery
- education employer partnerships

Do not keyword-stuff the website.

Technical requirements

Please ensure the website has:

- SSL
- mobile responsiveness
- analytics
- Search Console
- SEO titles and descriptions
- properly structured headings
- accessible image alt text
- cookie/privacy requirements appropriate to the website
- professional domain email
- clear ownership/access for the domain, hosting and website CMS

Accendia Consulting Ltd must retain ownership/control of the domain, website account, hosting account, analytics and social accounts.

The website should be designed so Accendia can add case studies, services and insights later without rebuilding the site.
